NORGUARD INTRODUCES LINE EXTENSION TO FALL PROTECTION EQUIPMENT DESIGNED FOR WOMEN

Sudbury, Ontario – August 25, 2009 Norguard Industries a leading designer and manufacturer of fall protection equipment, announces a product extension to its Go Pro-Girl™ line of products.

“On April 16th Norguard launched its first line of products designed specifically for women and we are continuing to expand on this line with the addition of the Go Pro-Girl roofer’s kit” said Tina Desjardins, Vice President of Operations at Norguard Industries. “With the increased number of women entering the work labour force, Norguard recognized the importance of designing a line of harnesses specifically with them in mind. We are happy with the response to the line thus far and delighted by the feedback from women workers.” Desjardins says Norguard continuously gains feedback from their customers and as a result creates innovative products that deliver protection foremost, choice, and durability.

Each of the harnesses is CSA certified, and meets ANSI. All Norguard harnesses are manufactured using polyester webbing with minimum breaking strength of 6,000lbs, the lanyards have a minimum breaking strength of 9,800lbs. There are three types of connection options available; pass thru, tongue and buckle or Kwik-Loc buckles. Extra comfort can be added to any harness with the addition of Norguard’s harness backpad.

Norguard Go Pro-Girl products are available through Norguard distributors immediately.
